UNIVERSITY

Bachelor

of Hospitality Management (Honours)

KPT/JPS (N/811/6/0373)(MQA/PA14341) 04/26

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

The hospitality and tourism industry is expected to grow in the future. With this development, the industry needs to ensure that human capital, especially qualified and competent staff to meet the demands of the industry. Due to the heavy worldwide impacts of COVID-19, the humanity shall walk into a new era of a post-crisis world which require the players of the industry to adapt their approach towards the new travel. This will allow for new concepts to be developed aiming to benefit the society in need of emotional retreats and focusing on psychological wellbeing. When the lockdown ends, the first two things people want to spend money on is eating out and travelling. Confidence in domestic travel will rise although travelers will still be cautious.

Students will experience purpose-built industry standard facilities in the university. Simulation formatting like the training restaurant, culinary suites, beverage laboratory, housekeeping suites and front office laboratories will enable the students to enhance their hospitality skills.
